

We hid a building in a pocket of the walk path. The building gives its roof to the park. That roof is therefore integrated into the paths and platforms network. At some point, the Municipality decided to dedicate this building to host a business incubator. This way, the park will be able to produce new jobs and recycled water, two important and scarce resources, given the current situation of the town and the Region.

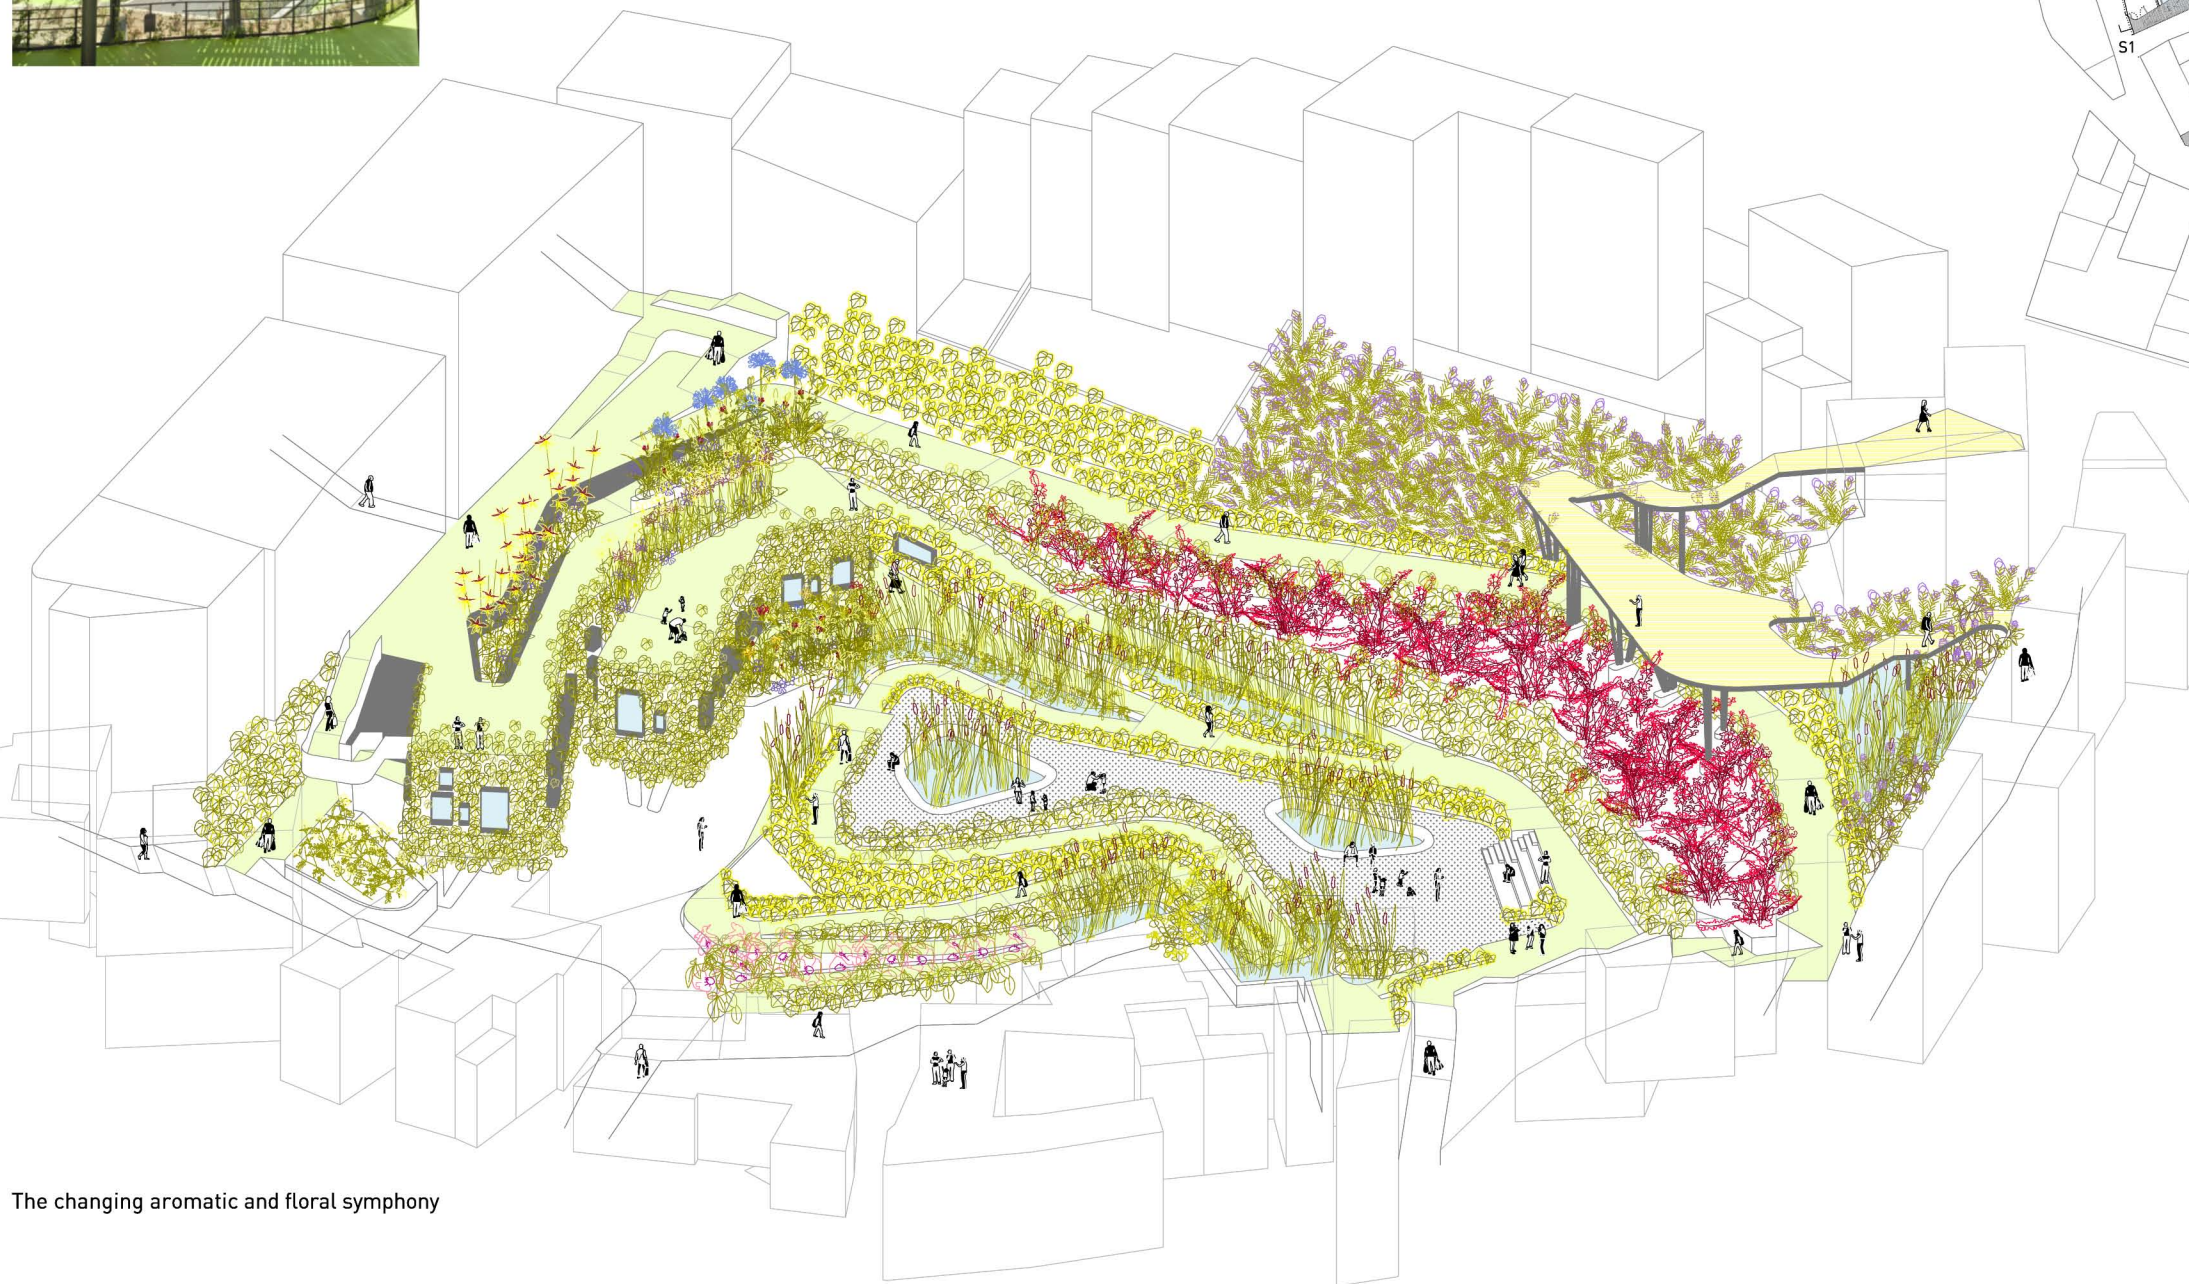

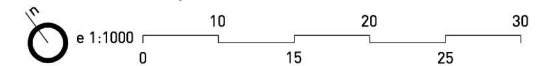

S1: Section

We located the so called "desire paths", made by the footsteps of the neighbours, the ones who tried to walk through to the other side. By tracing the paths based on those footprints on the ground, the streets on the borders were connected by using comfortable slopes, making the paths accessible for almost all the neighbours. Green colour floods the hard floors and tints the facades of the adjacent buildings.
