project code K232

look at the city

work method in public space

self-building

idea

participation + laboratory

plan

simulate movements to model a game activate a circular design that allows children’s proposals to confront the feasibility, concretizing the participatory process the children live the space of the square but they can also imagine it