

ALONG THE RUNWAY - ESPLANADES AND GARDENS

Along the runway, the created openings become spaces planted with dense shrub vegetation, providing shaded settings leading up to the main entrances and accesses to the buildings along the plazas and squares. the names of these public spaces pay homage to the various city formerly served along the postal route. Leaping from one scale to another (from de 10,500 kilometers long airmail route to the 1,800 meters of the runway) and from one period to another, the airmail line is transcribed on the runway through addresses giving their names to the adjacent buildings.

préfiguration of the runaway uses