Terzo Giardino invites citizens to discover the nature into the city and to create a new relationship with plants and ecosystem. A place where to meet chaotic beauty inside the city of Renaissance, which has been teaching the misuse and controlled beauty to the world.

In Firenze Terzo Giardino values have a political meaning because they stay for something to discover in the present, something that has to change in order to stay alive into a city overwhelmed by mass tourism and strangled by its immobilism. Terzo Giardino raises questions for Firenze and uses landscape and non commercial public space to propose a different way to look at free time, far away from consumerism, close to new perspective for a sustainable city life.
