

The layout of the platforms follows the breaking of the waves in a beautiful curve.

The new waterfront is 300 metres long. A new jetty allows boats to dock and offers new views of the city, seen from the water.

Using local sand, the platforms are made of washed concrete and appear as if the beach had been solidified.