

K299 STAGE : СЦЕНА

Experimental public space in an abandoned part of the park.

We used crowdfunding to collect money to purchase building materials. All construction work was done with the help of volunteers, people who are enthusiastic and passionate about creating local communities. STAGE belongs to the citizens of Dnipro.

At the heart of it all is a social agenda: STAGE is the beginning of a lot of new communities. A community of designers met online to design it. A community of volunteers met in Dnipro to build it. And a community of backers made it all possible. This support allowed STAGE to appear and become a platform for creating new communities.

