

H159
Rainham Marshes
London (United Kingdom), 2014

board 3 of 3

CATEGORY: Park / Garden
CITY: London
COUNTRY: United Kingdom
BEGINNING YEAR: 2003
START ON SITE: 2006
END YEAR: 2014 (ongoing)
AREA: 6,400.000m2
COST: 6,000,000 €

DEVELOPER:
Greater London Authority | London Development Agency |
Design for London | London Borough of Havering |
Royal Society for the Protection of Birds

AUTHORS:
Peter Beard_LANDROOM | Peter Beard, Alexander Gore, Sabba
Khan, Dingle Price, Gregory Ross, Mark Smith, Keita Tajima

COLLABORATORS:
structural engineering: Jane Wernick Associates
civil engineering, ecology, hydrology (western marshes and paths):
Bureau Veritas
civil engineering, ecology, hydrology (eastern marshes): Betteridge
Turner and Partners
quantity surveying (eastern marshes): Appleyard and Trew graphic design (main signage): Studio Frith
preliminary masterplan: AEA Consulting, Peter Beard_LANDROOM, Latz and Partner, Ecology Consultancy, Hyder,
Sinclair Knight Mertz.

1	5
2
3	6		7
4	8	9	10	11

key to photographs

1. new wetlands and boardwalk on western marsh
2. screened deck within classroom complex
3. path through the western marshes with portland stone bench
4. signage on the Thames path
5. visitor group at Rainham local nature reserve
6. new portland stone 'yardmarker' indicating location of military heritage
7. one of six new corten steel bridges on the western marshes
8. information board on the Thames link path
9. small portland stone benches on the Thames wall
10. path and footbridge on the western marshes
11. detail of RSPB classroom complex on the reserve at Purfleet