Agrocité is an agricultural hub built on a 3000m² plot situated in the core of a social housing estate and comprising an experimental micro-farm, community gardens, educational and cultural spaces. The site includes experimental devices for compost-powered heating, rainwater collection, solar energy generation, aquaponic gardening and phyto-remediation.

- 100t/year CO₂ reduction
- 4 to 6 new jobs in urban agriculture, local economy, social cohesion and cooperation, sharing
- 50t/year water consumption reduction
- 24t/year of recycled organic waste
- 400 users involved in education, learning and dissemination of ecological practices.