

Current state

Previous state

Before the creation of Heavenly Hundred Garden instead of it was a wasteland, surrounded by iron fence. During the democratic revolution in Ukraine in February 2014 Maidan activists removed the iron fence that for years had been enclosing the dumpsite and a shelter for stray dogs and homeless people on the patch of a land. The sections of the fence went down in history as shields for people in the barricades for defense from police.

