

AALBORG WATERFRONT II

The central idea of the second phase is the continuation of the waterfront promenade as a "marsh" in combination with a light curving plinth, upon which the buildings are located as in a raised dune landscape.

The town plinth provides flood protection, and the incisions carved into it create a series of spaces with varied functions – protected from the wind by the plinth's sides, which are designed as seating steps.

