In the first weeks after opening despite the unfavorable weather, a promenade became a place frequently visited. It became very quickly fully working public space and new meeting place. During the day a promenade is a place for whole families and in the evening the space for a dates or contemplation.