The river Ohře has been brought back to the inhabitants and visitors of Kadaň. The river itself is easily accessible and the revitalized riverbank serves as a ground for number of activities - be it a stroll along the river, rowing on a boat, or having fun with friends over a coffee. The area now represents a part of the town where people go to spend their free time, being closer to nature.